PEPFAR/UNAIDS

Blevins (PI)

4/1/2016-5/31/2022

Joint Initiative to Strengthen Partnerships with Faith-Based Organizations

This project creates a global partnership network to increase collaboration between the US President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR), the United Nations Joint Programme (UNAIDS), and various interfaith partners to address HIV/AIDS in global contexts. The Interfaith Health Program at Emory serves as the lead institution for the Academic Consortium of the initiative.

Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation

Koplan (PI)

12/1/2015-6/30/2023

Childhood Health and Mortality Prevention Surveillance (CHAMPS) Network

This project currently works in Mozambique, South Africa, Kenya, Bangladesh, Mali, Sierra Leone, and Ethiopia to determine definitive causes of childhood mortality so that effective public health interventions can be implemented to address those causes. I coordinate qualitative research in the social-behavioral sciences and community entry and engagement activities in collaboration with the country site offices. This includes efforts to understand cultural and religious beliefs related to death, burial, and autopsies.

Woodruff Health Sciences Center

9/1/2019-12/31/2020

Synergy Grant

This project is a seed grant to examine the influences of religion and spirituality on HIV prevention and support services for Black gay men in Atlanta. The project will describe the ways in which religion may offer support or may contribute to stigma for Black gay men. By identifying religious or spiritual practices or structures that are supportive, findings from the project can improve existing faith-based HIV programs and services.

Woodruff Health Sciences Center

Blevins (PI) 6/1/2020-5/31-2021

Bidirectional Health Disparities Research Grant

This pilot grant provides funding to support planning for submission for a two-year program grant (anticipated due date, May 2021) to launch the India-Atlanta Institute on Religion and Public Health. The institute would provide a framework for two teams of religious and public health leaders to learn about religion as a social determinant of public health and to develop community health action plans to address chronic diseases among the Indian immigrant community in Atlanta and the community-at-large in Bengaluru, India.

Religion and Public Health Collaborative

Idler (PI) Ongoing support

Laney Graduate School, Emory University

The collaborative brings together Emory's academic units to support interdisciplinary scholarship into religion's influence on public health policy, health beliefs, and health services.

Blount Center for Health and Human Rights

Thurman (PI) Ongoing support

Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University

The Blount Center is endowed to address the societal factors that contribute to health disparities by developing scientifically sound, innovative applied research initiatives that can further understanding of the connections between health and social forces.

Blevins (PI) 10/1/2012-9/30/2015

CDC/Cardno Emerging Markets—Interfaith Health Program Public Private Partnership

This project provided funding to support capacity building and systems strengthening among faith-based organizations, civil society organizations, implementing partners of the United States government, and national governmental structures in PEPFAR priority countries, with an emphasis in sub-Saharan Africa.

S3552-24/27

Thurman (PI) 10/1/2011-9/30/2012

ASPH/PEPFAR/CDC

National Center for Public Health and Faith Collaborations

This project focused on the development and oversight of three initiatives for mobilizing the faith based sector in response to HIV prevention and community response. The initiatives included community assets mobilization in the informal settlements of Nairobi, Kenya; convening global networks of religious leaders; and programming activities in conjunction with the 2012 International AIDS Conference in collaboration with the Global AIDS Program of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Thurman (PI)

10/1/2009-9/30/2010

ASPH/HHS/CDC

National Center for Public Health and Faith Collaborations

The major activity in this project was the development and oversight of a community-level HIV prevention initiative in the informal settlements of Nairobi, Kenya in collaboration with the Kenya Office of the President's Emergency Plan For AIDS Prevention (PEPFAR).

S3552-24/25

Thurman (PI)

10/1/2009-9/30/2010

ASPH/HHS/CDC

National Center for Public Health and Faith Collaborations

This project consisted of two distinct objectives: 1) building capacity for selected interdisciplinary teams of faith and health leaders to respond to the H1N1 epidemic, and 2) conducting pilot safe water initiatives in Kenya and Zambia in collaboration with the Church Health Associations in each country.
