ACADEMIC BACKGROUND

Ph.D. Major: Health Behavior Minor: Educational Inquiry Methodology
Departments of Applied Health Science and Counseling & Educational Psychology, Indiana University, Bloomington, IN March, 2009
Dissertation: Exploring Ethnic Specific Physical Activity Correlates among University Students Using the Social Cognitive Theory

M.S. Major: Community Health Education
Department of Physiology & Health Science,
Ball State University, Muncie, IN May, 2001
Thesis: A Comparison of Selected Demographics of Indiana State Legislators and Their Voting Records on Tobacco Issues

B.S. Major: Health Education Minor: Computer Applications
Departments of Physiology & Health Science and Computer Science,
Ball State University, Muncie, IN July, 1998

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

2018-Present Program Director, Evaluation & Continuous Improvement: Georgia Clinical and Translational Science Alliance, Emory University, Atlanta, GA

2019-Present Research Associate Professor: Department of Behavioral Sciences and Health
Education, Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University, Atlanta, GA

2015-2017 Program Director, Tracking & Evaluation: Atlanta Clinical and Translational
Science Institute, Emory University, Atlanta, GA

2010-2019 Research Assistant Professor: Department of Behavioral Sciences and Health Education, Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University, Atlanta, GA

2009-2010 Senior Study Director: Department of Behavioral Sciences and Health Education, Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University, Atlanta, GA

2006-2009 Data Analyst: Pool Cool Program, Department of Behavioral Sciences and Health Education, Rollins School of Public Health, Emory University, Atlanta, GA

2003-2006 Associate Instructor: Department of Applied Health Science, Indiana University, Bloomington, IN

1999-2003 Research Analyst: American Cancer Society Behavioral Research Center, Atlanta, GA

1999 Internship: American Cancer Society National Home Office, Department of Cancer Control, Atlanta, GA

1998-1999 Graduate Assistant: Department of Physiology & Health Science, Ball State University, Muncie, IN

1998 Health Education Internship: Ball State University Student Health Education Division, Ball State University, Muncie, IN

CURRENT RESEARCH SUPPORT

Georgia Clinical and Translational Science Alliance

UL1TR002378 MPI: Garcia, Ofili, Phillips, Taylor

Funding Agency: National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences (NCATS) / NIH

Period of Support: 2012-2027

Award amount: $58,690,325 ($73,748,025 including Institutional support)

Description: The Georgia Clinical and Translational Science Alliance (Georgia CTSA) is an NIH-funded Clinical and Translational Science Award (CTSA) that represents a collaboration between Emory University (lead), Georgia Institute of Technology, the University of Georgia, and Morehouse School of Medicine.

Role: Program Director for Evaluation and Continuous Improvement

KL2 TR002381 Blumberg (PI) 09/01/2022-07/21/2027

NIH/NCATS KL2 Institutional Career Development, Georgia Clinical & Translational Science Alliance

The KL2 program is a component of the Georgia CTSA, an NIH-funded Clinical and Translational Science Award (CTSA) that represents collaboration between Emory University, Georgia Institute of Technology, Morehouse School of Medicine, and the University of Georgia. The KL2 program supports career development for junior faculty trainees with excellent potential to establish a career in clinical and translational research.

Role: Lead Evaluator

TL1 TR002382 Blumberg (PI) 09/01/2022-07/21/2027

NIH/NCATS NRSA Training Core, Georgia Clinical & Translational Science Alliance

The TL1/NRSA Training Core is a component of the Georgia CTSA that represents collaboration between Emory University, Georgia Institute of Technology, Morehouse School of Medicine, and the University of Georgia. The TL1/NRSA Core supports didactic and mentored research training for predoctoral and postdoctoral trainees at the Georgia CTSA partner institutions.

Role: Lead Evaluator

Atlanta Center for Microsystems Engineered Point-of-Care Technologies (ACME POCT)

1U54EB027690-01 MPI: Lam, Brand, Martin

Funding Agency: National Institute of Biomedical Imaging and Bioengineering (NIBIB) / NIH

Period of Support: 2023-2028

Award amount: $9,466,580

Description: The ACME POCT will assist inventors across the United States in developing and translating microelectronics-based point-of-care (POC) technologies for patient care.

Role: Co-Investigator and Director of Technology Training and Dissemination Core

Program for Retaining, Supporting, and EleVating Early-career Researchers at Emory (PeRSEVERE)

MPI: Meltzer, Griendling, Levey

Funding Agency: Doris Duke Charitable Foundation - Fund to Retain Clinical Scientists

Period of Support: 2021-2023

Award amount: $550,000

Role: Program Co-Investigator; Evaluator

Center for Children's Health Assessment, Research Translation, and Combating Environmental Racism (CHARTER)

P2CES033430 PI: McCauley

Funding Agency: National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS) / NIH

Period of Support: 2021-2026

Award amount: $4,427,909

Description: CHARTER aims to develop effective strategies to translate research findings of importance to children's environmental health to relevant stakeholders in the community, academia and among healthcare providers.

Role: Program Evaluator; Member, Steering Committee

Atlanta Pediatric Scholars Program

K12HD072245 PI: Lucky Jain

Funding Agency: Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) / NIH

Period of Support: 12/1/2022 – 11/30/2027

Current Year Award Amount $449,255

Description: This is a Child Health Research Career Development Award aimed at preparing junior faculty in basic science research to become the next generation of physician scientists in pediatric research.

Role: In Kind Evaluation Advisor, Member of Internal Advisory Committee

NSF Engine: Type-I: Southeastern Technology Engine to Advance Health Equity

MPI: Lam, Brand, Martin

Funding Agency: National Science Foundation

Period of Support: 2023-2025

Award amount: $1,000,000

Description: The vision for the Southeastern Technology Engine to Advance Health Equity is for Georgia and surrounding states to be home for a premier innovation ecosystem that develops and translates affordable and widely available point-of-care (POC) medical devices, in particular next-generation wearables and diagnostics, to advance health equity

Role: Lead – Evaluation and Assessment

Women's Health and Intersectionality: Research Training in Data Science, Omics, and Health Information Technology (WISDOM)

T32 MPI: Im, Hertzberg

Funding Agency: National Institute of Nursing Research (NINR) / NIH

Role: Program Evaluator; Member, Steering Committee

COMPLETED RESEARCH SUPPORT

Developing a Culturally Responsive, Evidence-Informed Wellness Toolkit for Healthcare Workers in China

MPI: Kaslow, Bai, Tang

Funding Agency: Emory Global Health Institute (EGHI) Faculty Seed Grant

Period of Support: 2021-2022

Award amount: $19,753

Description: This project conceptualizes the psychological effects of COVID-19 on healthcare workers (HCW) in China and lays the foundation for developing context-informed, evidence-informed psychological strategies that engage HCWs beyond a traditional mental health treatment approach, normalize their experiences, raise their awareness of the importance of psychological health, and enhance their use of wellness strategies.

Role: Co-Investigator

Emergency COVID-19 Supplement for Atlanta Center for Microsystems Engineered Point-of-Care Technologies (ACME POCT)

3U54EB027690-02S1 MPI: Lam, Brand, Martin

Funding Agency: National Institute of Biomedical Imaging and Bioengineering (NIBIB) / NIH

Period of Support: 2020-2022

Award amount: $31,080,737

Description: This supplement aids the ACME POCT in assisting inventors across the United States in developing and translating microelectronics-based point-of-care (POC) technologies for COVID-19.

Role: Co-Investigator and Director of Evaluation Core

Atlanta Center for Microsystems Engineered Point-of-Care Technologies (ACME POCT)

1U54EB027690-01 MPI: Lam, Brand, Martin

Funding Agency: National Institute of Biomedical Imaging and Bioengineering (NIBIB) / NIH

Period of Support: 2018-2023

Award amount: $6,878,177

Description: The ACME POCT will assist inventors across the United States in developing and translating microelectronics-based point-of-care (POC) technologies for patient care.

Role: Co-Investigator and Director of Technology Training and Dissemination Core

Georgia Clinical and Translational Science Alliance

UL1TR002378 MPI: Garcia, Ofili, Phillips, Taylor

Funding Agency: National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences (NCATS) / NIH

Period of Support: 2017-2022

Award amount: $40,686,541

Description: The Georgia Clinical and Translational Science Alliance (Georgia CTSA) is an NIH-funded Clinical and Translational Science Award (CTSA) that represents a collaboration between Emory University (lead), Georgia Institute of Technology, the University of Georgia, and Morehouse School of Medicine.

Role: Program Director for Evaluation and Continuous Improvement

Strategic Plan and Development of Online Education at the Georgia CTSA

3UL1TR002378-02S1 MPI: Taylor, Kempker, Zheng, Bhatti, Shenoy

Funding Agency: National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences (NCATS) / NIH

Period of Support: 2018-2019

Award amount: $367,914

Description: Administrative Supplement; Georgia Clinical & Translational Science Alliance (GaCTSA) UL Component. This supplemental funding supports the development of Massive Open Online Courses using the foundation of the available training resources from Emory University, University of Georgia, Georgia Tech and Morehouse School of Medicine.

Role: Program Director for Evaluation and Continuous Improvement

Atlanta Clinical and Translational Science Institute

UL1TR000454-07 PI: Stephens

Funding Agency: National Center for Advancing Translational Sciences (NCATS) / NIH

Period of Support: 2012-2017

Award amount: $25,701,021

Description: The Atlanta Clinical and Translational Science Institute (ACTSI) is a NIH-funded Clinical and Translational Science Award (CTSA) that represents a collaboration between Emory University (lead) and Georgia Institute of Technology and Morehouse School of Medicine.

Role: Program Director for Tracking and Evaluation (2015-)

Partners for Health: HIV Prevention among Rural Chinese MSM

Chinese Government Grant Funding Nehl (Co-PI with Zheng)

Funding Agency: Guangxi Provincial Health and Family Planning Committee

Period of Support: 2016-2017

Description: Funded by the Guangxi Provincial Health and Family Planning Committee, the aims of this study are: (1) Characterize the health service needs and HIV risk behaviors among MSM living in rural areas of southern China; (2) To investigate the association between the context of living in rural China, individual characteristics, and relationship factors with HIV sexual risk-taking and the link between this risk-taking and HIV status; The findings will contribute to the small body of research targeting this high-risk group and serve as pilot data for future grant applications.

Role: Co-Principal Investigator

Region IV Public Health Training Center

UB6HP27875-01-00 PI: Miner

Funding Agency: Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA)

Period of Support: 2015-2016

Award amount: $3,990,634

Description: Funded by the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), the mission of the Region IV Public Health Training Center (R-IV PHTC) is to be a learning community that will build competence in the current and future public health workforce, expose public health students to the value of working in underserved areas, and advocate for public health systems and policies.

Role: Faculty Mentor

A Molecular-Social Network Investigation of HIV-HCV Co-infection in Chinese MSM

R01AI106715-01 PI: Wong

Funding Agency: National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) / NIH

Period of Support: 2013-2016

Award amount: $594,823

Description: By integrating behavioral network analysis and HCV and HIV phylogenetic analysis this study will establish the differential and joint contributions of sexual risks and injection drug use to HCV transmission among HIV-infected Chinese men who have sex with men and their IDU and sexual partners. The study also will describe and examine behavioral and social network characteristics associated with sexual and/or drug risk determinants of HCV.

Role: Co-Investigator

People and Places: Neighborhood Effects on Drug Use Among African American Adults

RO1DA025607 MPI: Sterk & Elifson

Funding Agency: National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) / NIH

Period of Support: 2007-2014

Award amount: $2,367,976

Description: The main purposes of this project are to investigate the association between neighborhood context, individual characteristics and neighborhood perceptions with drug use; to examine the association between neighborhood context, individual characteristics, including situational use-related attributes, and neighborhood perceptions with the frequency of drug use; and (3) to identify the spatial patterns or “hot spots” of drug use and to investigate neighborhood and individual-level characteristics, such as gender and age, associated with these spatial patterns. Findings from this study will yield baseline data for prevention and intervention efforts that consider structural risk and protective factors over and beyond those at the individual level.

Role: Data Analyst (2014)

Be Healthy: Neighborhood Effects on HIV Risk-Taking

R01DA025494 MPI: Sterk & Elifson

Funding Agency: National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) / NIH

Period of Support: 2007-2014

Award amount: $3,118,722

Description: The aims of this longitudinal study are: (1) To investigate the association between neighborhood context, individual characteristics, and neighborhood perceptions with HIV sexual risk-taking and the link between this risk-taking and HIV status; (2) To examine the association between neighborhood context, individual characteristics, and neighborhood perceptions with injection drug use (IDU) related HIV risk-taking and this risk-taking and HIV status; (3) To identify the spatial patterns or “hot spots” of HIV risk-taking and to investigate neighborhood and individual-level characteristics, such as alcohol and drug use and perceived HIV risk, associated with these spatial patterns. The findings will contribute to multi-level, interdisciplinary interventions including researchers, urban planners and policy makers.

Role: Data Analyst (2014)

Risks for HIV/STIs and Their Psychological Correlates among Chinese MSM

R01HD56956 PI: Wong

Funding Agency: Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) / NIH

Period of Support: 2007-2014

Award amount: $2,976,349

Description: The study is a sero- and behavioral surveillance of 1,200 Chinese MSM (including 600 who engage in transactional sex). In addition, the study examines three recruitment methodologies, especially on overlapping participation among research subjects.

Role: Co-Investigator (2010-)

Sex-C: Exploring the Sexual Transmission of Hepatitis C Pilot Study

P30AI050409 PI: Wong

Funding Agency: Emory Center for AIDS Research (CFAR) Micro Grant

Period of Support: 2012

Award amount: $1,500

Description: This study assesses the ability of ACASI interviews among patients enrolled in hepatitis C clinics in Atlanta, GA.

Role: Co-Investigator

Men of Asia Testing for HIV (MATH)

R01HD046354 Wong (PI from 2004-2009); Huang (PI 2010)

Funding Agency: Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) / NIH

Period of Support: 2004-2010

Award amount: $2,657,642

Description: The study is a national sero- and behavioral surveillance of 2,400 self-identified Asian American and Pacific Islander men who have sex with men.

Role: Data Analyst (2010)

Diffusion of an Effective Skin Cancer Prevention Program

1 R01 CA092505 PI: Glanz

Funding Agency: National Cancer Institute (NCI) / NIH

Period of Support: 2003-2007; Measurement supplement 2005-2007

Award amount: $2,918,859; Measurement supplement $163,000

Description: Evaluate effects of two strategies for diffusion of the Pool Cool skin cancer prevention program on: program implementation, maintenance, and sustainability; organizational and environmental supports for sun protection/habits and sunburns among children. Supplement funding, 2005-07, provides for a validation study of self-report measures of sun exposure and sun protection behaviors.

Role: Data Analyst (2006-)

Does the Theory of Planned Behavior Moderate the Relationship between Ethnicity and Moderately Intense Physical Activity in College-Aged Students?

G12RR03062 MPI: Blanchard & Fisher

Funding Agency: Research Centers in Minority Institutions, National Center for Research Resources / NIH

Period of Support: 2003-2006

Role: Research Analyst
