Short Biography

K.M. Venkat Narayan, MD, MSc, MBA. Currently Ruth and O.C. Hubert Chair of Global Health, Director, Emory Global Diabetes Research Center and Professor of Medicine & Epidemiology at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia. Dr. Narayan is noted for substantial, multidisciplinary work in diabetes public health. With more than 425 publications (H-index >60 on Thompson, >110 on google. Scholar), including several high-impact studies, his work exemplifies his leadership in diabetes public health.

Prior to his time at Emory, Dr. Narayan spent 10 years at the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, leading science efforts in his role as chief of the Diabetes Epidemiology and Statistics Branch. He was also an intramural researcher at the National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases. His research has focused on the epidemiology of type 2 diabetes, and on large national and international intervention studies to prevent and control the disease, and to translate science into practice and policy. Known for his interdisciplinary work, he is currently also exploring intriguing differences in the pathophysiology of type 2 diabetes in South Asian and other developing countries' populations globally.

Narayan is a member of several international and national committees on type 2 diabetes and other non-communicable diseases and most recently was elected to the US National Academy of Medicine (NAM), and won the American Diabetes Association's Kelly West Award for outstanding achievement in epidemiology. Narayan is Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians of Ireland, Fellow of the Faculty of Public Health Medicine, UK, Fellow of the American College of Physicians, and Fellow of the American Heart Association. He was awarded Emory University's Mentor of the Year, the Danish Diabetes Academy Visiting Professorship at University of Copenhagen, and the Nehru Chair at University of Hyderabad.

SUMMARY OF QUALIFICATIONS and EXPERIENCE

Dr. K.M. Venkat Narayan, MD, MSc, MBA, is Director, Emory Global Diabetes Research Center, and Ruth and O.C. Hubert Chair of Global Health and Epidemiology and Professor of Medicine at Emory University (Atlanta, GA, USA). He is a product of three continents, having lived in India, United Arab Emirates, England, Scotland, and the United States. He is interdisciplinary in his background, having trained in internal medicine, geriatrics, and preventive medicine. Over a 24 year career in research and public health, initially as an intramural scholar for 4 years at NIDDK, NIH with the Pima Study, then 10 years leading diabetes epidemiology at CDC, and now as endowed chair at Emory University, Dr. Narayan has contributed substantially to diabetes epidemiology and to non-diseases communicable diseases nationally and globally, through his scholarly work (spanning large epidemiological studies, major multicenter randomized controlled trials, health services research, policy analysis), teaching and mentoring, service, policy, and advocacy functions.

He has published over 425 papers, including several seminal high-impact publications (e.g., lifetime risk of diabetes; projections of diabetes burden; diabetes economics; national tracking of diabetes quality of care; conceptualization of translation research; systematic reviews of young onset type 2 DM, screening, diabetes self-management, global disease control priorities for diabetes). Dr. Narayan has been cited >100,000 times and has an H-index of >110 (http://scholar.google.com/citations?user=PYInaz8AAAAJ&hl=en&oi=ao). He was lead editor of a highly reviewed book, "Diabetes Public Health - From Data to Policy", a 860-page state-of-the art evidence synthesis published by Oxford University Press and now in public domain, and has served as founding associate editor for Primary Care Diabetes, associate editor for Clinical Diabetes, guest editor, Annals of Internal Medicine, JAIDS, Global Heart, editorial boards of Diabetes Technology and Diabetes in America. He led the diabetes chapter for the World Bank/NIH Disease Control Priorities (DCP-2) and is now leading the same for the next version (DCPN). Dr. Narayan led the diabetes components for the Global Burden of Disease (GBD) project, is a member of the team that produces the IDF Atlas, and is currently contributing to the next version of NIDDK Diabetes in America, as part of the editorial team and also as author on two chapters.

Dr. Narayan has shown remarkable scientific leadership. At NIDDK, he designed the first lifestyle intervention trial in the Pima Indians and was actively involved in the early conceptualization of that led to the multicenter trial of diabetes prevention (DPP). At CDC, he shaped diabetes science starting multicenter studies (e.g., TRIAD, a study of quality of care, and SEARCH, a study of young onset diabetes), expanding diabetes economics models toward vascular complications, leveraging surveillance to forecast future burdens, and importantly, by conceptualizing and introducing rigor and attention to translational research. He is a member of the investigators' group of the NIDDK DPP trial and the NHLBI ACCORD trial (including a stint as a member of the executive committee). Now at Emory, he has advanced the mission of global non-communicable diseases, with several publications (including two recent perspectives in NEJM) and has developed a strong group focused on global diabetes, and directs a Global Diabetes Research Center and a NHLBI-funded Global Center of Excellence in Cardiometabolic Diseases with partners in India and Pakistan; assembling a cohort of 50,000 South Asians, and implementing two translation trials of diabetes prevention, and a multicenter cardiovascular disease prevention, using low-cost scalable approaches, among South Asians.

He has been an active teacher and mentor, and several of his mentees have reached positions of significance. Dr. Narayan has been on the faculty of the renowned Cambridge Epidemiology course and also taught diabetes epidemiology at Emory for over ten years. Furthermore, he is passionate and takes science to policy, as evidenced by the fact that he consults with the WHO, the World Bank, International Diabetes Federation (IDF), American Diabetes Association (ADA), NIH, CDC, and advises various country governments. Dr. Narayan has also served on the ADA scientific committee, its research review committees, and the IDF science committee. He is often an invited speaker at important meetings (e.g. ADA, IDF, China Health Forum, numerous grand rounds), and gave the closing "Highlights at ADA" 2 years ago, and has served on a variety of science committees for NIH, IOM, IDF, WHO, and other groups. He was also a civil society delegate representing diabetes interests at the UN High Level Summit on non-communicable diseases in September 2011. Dr. Narayan chaired a NHLBI workshop in 2010 on Cardiovascular Disease in Asian Americans, co-chaired a NIH Fogarty International Center workshop on Chronic, non-communicable diseases in HIV+ populations in 2012. He chaired the special issue on NCD for Health Affairs (2015), and is now chairing a Global Heart special issue for NHLBI, and co-chairing a NIH workshop in health disadvantages.

Dr. Narayan was elected to the National Academy of Medicine (NAM), and as Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians of Ireland, Fellow of the Faculty of Public Health Medicine (UK), Fellow of the American College of Physicians, Fellow of the American Heart Association, and member of the American Epidemiology Society. He was a member of the prestigious Duke of Edinburgh Commonwealth Fellowship, a network of global leaders, and also participated in the one year long Leadership Management Institute at CDC. Dr. Narayan was also invited by the US Secretary of Air Force to participate in a week long National Security Forum. He has mentored large numbers of junior Faculty, doctoral and post-doctoral fellows, and was He won the American Diabetes Association's Kelly West award for outstanding achievement in epidemiology in 2015, and was awarded the Danish Diabetes Academy fellowship as Visiting Professor, University of Copenhagen in 2015, and also the Nehru Chair in 2016 by the University of Hyderabad, Government of India..

SIGNIFICANT ACCOMPLISHMENTS (SELECTED)

- Co-Chair, NHLBI/NIH "Think tank" on health disadvantages
- Editor, Global Heart special issue on global NCDs, sponsored by NHLBI
- Theme Advisor, Noncommunicable diseases, Health Affairs
- Advisory Committee on NCD, WHO (EMRO)
- Advisory Board, Health Authority of Abu Dhabi
- Member, IOM Committee, Measurement of Progress for Obesity Prevention
- Member, Civil Society delegation, UN HLM on Noncommunicable diseases
- Member, IOM Committee on CVD Surveillance
- Panel, Wellcome Trust Global Trials Committee
- Chair, NIH Workshop on NCD in HIV
- Priority-setting group, International Diabetes Federation

- Member Futures' Initiative Research Group; led a report on "Big Science" for CDC.
- Led a report on "Public Health Research" for the Director, CDC.
- Member, Public Health Research Workgroup, "Futures Initiative", CDC
- Project Leader, Diabetes Translational Research Initiative, TRIAD Study CDC-sponsored multi-center applied research project related to diabetes outcomes in managed care
- CDC Principal Investigator, NHLBI-sponsored, (ACCORD) multi-center trial of CVD prevention among people with diabetes.
- Co-scientist, SEARCH, CDC-sponsored multi-center study of childhood diabetes.
- Member, Publications and Presentation Committee, Measurements Committee, Processes of Care Committee, SEARCH Study.
- Member, Executive Committee, NHLBI-sponsored ACCORD trial.
- Associate Investigator, NIH-sponsored, study of health outcomes of weight loss (Look Ahead)
- Associate Investigator, NIH-sponsored, multi-center Diabetes Prevention trial (DPP).
- Member, Cost-effectiveness group, NIH Diabetes Prevention trial; and ACCORD trial.
- Consultant, The World Bank: Health Services and Management Project, Hungary; Development of low-cost algorithm for chronic diseases; Global Investment Strategy development for non-communicable disease control; Review of algorithm for HIV/AIDS control in India.
- Investigator, PROJECT DIRECT, CDC-sponsored community-based diabetes prevention project.
- Co-Principal Investigator, Randomized clinical trial of lifestyle interventions in Pima Indians.
- Director, Disease Prevention/Health Promotion Strategy, Grampian Health Board.
- Associate Investigator, World Health Organization, multicenter CARDIAC study.
- Invited expert, National Academy of Sciences.
- Deputy Faculty Advisor for Preventive Medicine/Epidemiology, Scotland.

HONORS AND PRIZES

- 2016 Elected Member US National Academy of Medicine (NAM)
- 2016 Nehru Chair, University of Hyderabad, Government of India
- 2016 4th Madras Diabetes Research Foundation Gold Medal Oration
- 2015 American Diabetes Association's Kelly West Award for Outstanding Achievement in Epidemiology
- 2015 Danish Diabetes Academy Visiting Professor award
- Mentor of the Year 2011, Emory University
- DMDRC Gold Medal Oration, 2011
- Salim Yusuf Oration, 2010
- Research Society for Study of Diabetes in India Oration, 2009
- Elected Fellow of the Madras Academy of Sciences, 2007
- Director, India, China, America (ICA) Institute.
- Nominated for CDC Shephard award, 2004
- CDC Epidemiology Group Award, 2003
- Nominated for CDC Shephard award, 2003
- Invited member, U.S. National Security Forum, Maxwell Air College, 2002, Alabama
- Leadership Management Institute, CDC, 2002-3
- Associate Editor, Clinical Diabetes
- CDC group award for Diversity and Human Relations
- CDC group award for outstanding performance in research in type 2 diabetes in children, 2000.

TEACHING

- 1. Taught 15-hour courses in Epidemiology and prevention to third year medical students at Aberdeen University, 1987-1992.
- 2. Developed and taught a 30-hour module in disease prevention and health promotion for B.Sc (Health Sciences) at Aberdeen University, 1989-92.
- 3. Developed and taught a 15-hour course in nutritional epidemiology for M.Sc (Nutrition) at Aberdeen University, 1989-92.
- 4. As Deputy Faculty Advisor for Public Health in Scotland, 1989-1991, developed and monitored training programs, and trained residents.
- 5. Supervised several Masters and PhD students.
- 6. Program Faculty, American Diabetes Association Southern Regional Conference, 1998-2000.
- 7. Full semester course on "Diabetes Public Health", Rollins School of Public Health, Since 2003.
- 8. 5-day Course on Diabetes Public Health, CDC, 2003.
- 9. Faculty Cambridge University Diabetes Seminar, Since 2006
- 10. Full semester course on "Knowledge translation". Rollins School of Public Health. Since 2009.
- 11. International CVD Epidemiology Seminar, 2009
- 12. PHFI-Emory Chronic Diseases Epidemiology Seminar, 2010

Worksite Lifestyle Program for Reducing Diabetes and Cardiovascular Risk

This study will test the implementation, effectiveness, cost-effectiveness, and acceptability of a worksite lifestyle improvement program that includes lifestyle education classes led by trained individuals from the worksite and improvements in the worksite environment that will make it easier for employees to lose weight, exercise more, and eat a healthier diet.

Developing user-friendly tools to aid state policy-makers to reduce cardiovascular disease

This study will synthesize high quality data to produce estimates that are accessible to state officials and other interested groups to aid in the evaluation of the health and costs burdens imposed by CV risk factors. It will also produce a flexible data infrastructure and methodology to monitor state-level trends and rankings in CV risk factors and related health outcomes.

Integrated Care for Co-morbid Depression and Diabetes in India

The goal of this project is to provide better care and preventative services for people with both depression and diabetes, we propose to use feedback from patients in India to culturally-adapt a model of combined depression and diabetes care, and evaluate this care model's effectiveness and costs in a trial at three diabetes clinics in India.
